

food system change
online congress

Urban Gardening

Urban Gardening refers to an urban concept in which fruits, vegetables and other crops are grown in public, easily accessible areas and all foods grown at the site are freely available to the public.

sustainability
potential

- raises awareness for the value of commons and the multifunctional potential of urban green areas
- environmental education effect
- can increase biodiversity
- inclusive access to high quality foods

